The Greenback vote in the entire State was 18,925.

If somebody would just steal Green, the country would be saved.

Who edits the Post and News? Green or some other good Republican?

The Evening Post and News is seemingly the rival of the Commercial.

Of the nineteen State Senators recently elected seventeen are new men.

HON. E. POLK JOHNSON, of the Evening News and Post, has resigned his position.

They bury paupers two feet under the ground in Louisville. We are not going to exode to that city right away.

The Republicans of New York endorse umbrella Conklin, having elected him a delegate to the State Convention.

C. C. Cram will commence the publication of a new paper at Williamstown, this State, early this month, Williams-town Courier.

The face stamped on the silver dollar is that of Miss Annie W. Williams, of Philadelphia, a modest, retiring teacher in one of the public schools.

The 11th Drawing of the Commonwealth Distribution Company was held at Louisville on the 30th inst. The $10,000 was drawn by somebody in that city.

We acknowledge an invitation to the inauguration of Gov. L. P. Blackburn, but circumstances were such that we could not attend. It came off yesterday, and no doubt they had a big time.

SENATOR CONKLING has nothing to say in defense of Mrs. Sprague. He remains silent, leaving Kate to "paddle her own canoe." We think it about time the chivalrous Senator should rise and explain.

The country is interested in knowing when the First National Bank of New York will be able to pay the large sum it owes the United States. Forty millions is no small sum of money to be held without security.

MR. JUSTICE MILLER, of the United States Supreme Court, who voted on the Electoral Commission as one of the eight to sustain the fraud by which Hayes became President, now declares that Mr. Tilden was elected by a majority of from 8,000 to 10,000 in Louisiana.

W. P. HARDIN, Attorney General, has named his youngest child Mary Anderson, in honor of Anderson county which gave him a solid vote in their County Convention in instructing their delegates for aspirants in the race for that office.

The Statue of the late Gen. Custer, was unveiled at West Point, N. Y., on the 30th inst. It stands eight feet high, and is the gift of the New York Herald, Miss Clara Morris, Judge Hilton, Lawrence Barrett, John T. Raymond, Louis Kellogg and the Volkes Family.

The truly good of Ohio, first whip the skin off of poor orphans and then apply red pepper and salt lime as a liniment, and because the girl cries, they hammer her too much off. If that had occurred in the South, Deacon Smith would have called on the military.

The Lower House of the next General Assembly of Kentucky will be composed of 82 Democrats, 17 Republicans and one Greenbacker. In the Senate there are 34 Democrats and 4 Republicans. Upon joint ballot the Democrats will have a majority of 116 over Republicans and Greenbackers.

The St. Louis Journal of Commerce has been making an extensive canvass among the merchants of the West, with a view toward ascertaining the actual state and future prospects of general trade. The result is most encouraging. With gratifying and notable unanimity the correspondents report a large increase in business, abundant crops, and a universal feeling of confidence. It is safe to predict that next fall things will fairly boom.

OUR Treasury is empty and debts to pay, and our taxes must be increased or expenses reduced. Which shall it be? Reduce the expenses, of course. Our Judges of the Court of Appeals get $5,000 per annum. We denounce the Governmental Administration for extravagance while they only pay their U. S. District Judges $3,500 per annum. Let's follow the example and reduce the salary of the Judges of the Court of Appeals as low as that, anyway. This would be a saving of $6,000 a year, to start. When this is done, then follow up the good begun work.

The True Kentucky says the following named persons have so far been spoken of for offices of the next General Assembly. Senate: Chief Clerk—W. V. Prather, of Elliot; Bath-Wingate, Frankfort; Elliot, Bath, Assistant Clerk—Jno. L. Sneed, Frankfort. Sergeant-at-Arms—T. D. Marcum, Boyd; D. B. Swango, Wolfe, and Pursey, Clark. Door-keeper—Ex-Senator Jos. B. Read, of Louisville. House: Chief Clerk—T. G. Poore, Hickman. Assistant Clerk—J. Roland Day, Bourbon, and E. Polk Johnson, Louisville. Sergeant-at-Arms—Will Bailey, and W. Flynn, Frankfort; Doorkeeper—Dan'l. Hibler, Bourbon; W. J. Lucas, Davies; Milton Hamilton, Kenton, and J. T. Hutton, of Henry county.

OUR exchanges are booming over with booms.

GRANT don't want a third term it is said. But Grant is not sincere in anything. He either wants the Presidency or a good fat life pension, you bet.

THE Courier-Journal of the 27th, was a "little off." It had the head-lines of the Memphis yellow fever exchanged for the head-lines of the Washington Hayes-Cassanue affair. Turn up the gas, Bennett.

TICKET No. 79,003 drew the $30,000 prize in the thirteenth Commonwealth Company at Louisville, last Saturday. We presume the person has died with yellow fever, as he remains silent.

"WHY is a place in the temple of fame The hope of the poet's song?" If, after publishing a paper for nearly five years have not attained notoriety enough for the Courier-Journal to give us the correct credit? HERALD, not Times, Brother Logan.

LET'S see, Jones, Jones, yes, that's the man we are looking for. He publishes a paper in Rockport, Ind., and if we should happen to meet him, you bet he would fly away, and the "Ros—as fall" sure enough. Give us credit next time, Bro. J.

THE State Treasury is empty. In this connection it is well to bear in mind that the salaries of nearly all the State officers remain as they were in flush times, while the wages of workmen and the salaries of employees in private business have been cut down about one half.—Cincinnati Commonwealth.

FROM the records in the Insurance Bureau, we learn that the following life insurance companies of foreign countries have no authority to transact the business of insurance in this State: North German, Trans-Atlantic, Hamburg-Mecklenburg, London & Lancashire, Norwich Union, La Caisse Generale, La Confiance.—Yonkers.

BARDSLEY shot the blood-hound Dixon the open street, and the good Deacon Smith cries, "Oh my God! What wretches these Southern people are!" but when DeYoung drove up in his carriage and undertook to assassinate a minister of the Gospel, he said, "A well, Kallioch was a bad man."—Courier-Journal.

A SPRINGFIELD, Massachusetts man has named his four boys Ara, Era, Ira and Ora, and they are still living, and as full of fun and mischief as if nothing had happened.—Lexington Press.

Why didn't he have five, and call the fifth one Ura?—Yonkers.

The reason he didn't have the fifth one, was that he didn't do that part of the business.

Judge Elliott's Monument.

The State of Kentucky has hitherto erected monuments to its distinguished dead, and we now propose one to this murdered jurist. He died a martyr to justice. He died poor. His widow is needy and in poor health. We propose that the State donate her $10,000. This would be a monument in the hearts of the people, which would be an inspiration to duty and demonstrate that republicans are not all ungrateful. Let the press keep the tall in motion.

Yellow Fever.

HOUSTON, TEXAS.

When the train arrived at the city limits, it was halted by the whole police force of the city. The United States Marshals having deputized about 100 persons of the train, they arrested the police. On coming into the city, the United States officers were themselves arrested by the city authorities and taken into custody. The train was brought before Mayor Burk, in the office of the Chief of Police. The Chief announced that each was required to give a bond of $100 for his appearance at the City Court Monday to answer the charge of violating the quarantine law. United States District Attorney Homan said he and his party acted under the authority of the United States Government and by orders from the Governor Roberts, of Texas. He showed dispatches from the Governor to the Mayor, asking him to take the train through at all hazards. The prisoners refused to give bail, Homan announcing that they would immediately apply to Judge Masterson for a writ of habeas corpus. Great indignation is felt here against the United States officials for interfering. The passengers were released and allowed to proceed. The train and the United States officers alone were held, and are endeavoring to get a hearing before the District Judge to-night.

NEW ORLEANS.

Lydia Hood died last night. The other child is very sick.

The paper signed by C. B. White, Sanitary Director, and Edward Fenner, Vice President of the Sanitary Auxiliary Association, and approved by Dr. S. M. Bemis, of the National Board of Health, says: "That correct information may take the place of life and extinguish the flames of the epidemic, a list of all the cases of yellow fever that have occurred, beginning with the first one landed here." Here follow the names and dates of the heretofore telegraphed, showing that seventeen cases have occurred. Seven recovered, six died and four are under treatment—the first, July 2nd—Edith Hood—to August 28. Fifteen of these cases occurred in eleven houses on a parallelogram of three blocks by six. One of the three blocks, the genuineness of which, after examination was doubted by very high medical authority, lived on the outskirts of the city in close proximity to swamps. The other was an imported case from Morgan City. After referring to the various sanitary measures adopted by the Board of Health, the Sanitary Auxiliary Association and relief afforded by the National Board, the report concludes: "Having reached September under these favorable circumstances it is not unreasonable to expect that the cool winds and dry weather proper to this month will continue. We shall use our present general excellent sanitary guards to the best advantage, so that apprehension need not be felt by distant communities."

ANOTHER CASE REPORTED.

One case of fever was reported to the Board of Health to-day—George Cotton, aged four years, taken sick August 27th. The Board of Health to-day decided to divide what is termed the infected district into seven sections, each under an inspector, the whole under a sanitary inspector, the Fourth district requiring daily reports. Disinfecting will be continued throughout that quarter, and every effort made to prevent the spread of the fever.

MEMPHIS.

The records at the Health Office furnish another short day's labor of the plague-fighters, the physicians reporting but twenty-one new cases, including one from outside the city limits, and only eight white persons, as follows: Mrs. Donahue, 66 years, 350 Main. Mrs. Crafley, 34 years, 74 Main. W. R. Lucas, 42 years, 174 Carrol Avenue.

Sarah McMahon, 2 years, 102 Commerce. T. W. Doll, 22 years, corner Beale and Main. Sidney Fontaine, 6 years, 26 Tate. W. J. Berlin, 40 years, corner Court and Dunlap. Wm. Simms, Lane Avenue, east of Dupree.

THE UNDERTAKERS REPORT seven deaths, only two of which were whites, as follows: Nellie Pazz, 32 years, 117 Market. Jos. W. Penn, 24 years, 218 Vance. This has been an exceedingly quiet day, even for Sunday, in all circles. The one church, the Episcopal on Horna street, was open for services, and I learn there were but four persons, including the minister, present.

was played at one of the ball fields outside the city, and the military (colored) induced in dress parade and drill on the fields, where they are compelled to perform duty. Occasionally a platoon is seen with a lady occupying driving through the principal thoroughfares. These occurrences, occupied with idle squads of "PEPPER PROOF" seen here and there, and the crowds of colored nurses hanging around the nurse department, anxiously waiting to be called to attend the next that falls, sum up what to-day has been made of in Memphis. The weather has been clear and hot most of the day, but tonight indications are favorable for rain.

A telegram from Germantown announces that Julian Bedford is down with cholera at Raley Station. It will be remembered his son died of fever about two weeks ago. The Howards have sent a nurse and physician to that point. Courier-Journal of August 31st.

Editor Herald:

No excuse to offer for my long delay, only that news was scarce.

We are glad to note the improvements that are now in course of progress. Mr. Isaac Meade is building a nice stable on Main street, which will be quite an improvement when completed. Mr. Tilden is building a pavement in front of his hotel, and also improving his lively stable by a fresh coat of paint.

Prof. John H. Harper, of Rockport, has accepted the school at this place, and will begin teaching to-day, assisted by Mrs. Harper. They come highly recommended by teachers, and we hope they may be able to build up a good school.

R. J. Daniel and family, returned home to Louisville on last Friday, after spending several weeks visiting friends and relations.

Our old friend, Harry Bridges, who is in town again in a few days.

Wilson's Mills Music.

AUGUST 29th, 1879.

Editor Herald:

It has been some time since I last wrote you. The time has, however, been filled with some very interesting events, among which I will mention that of Bro. W. W. Cook coming up to our county from Madisonville, to spend some time with us while in our midst he discoursed at some length upon the subject of baptism of infants as well as that of adults. The subject of church government was also discussed, as it has been some four or five weeks before, and it is conceded by all, so far as we know, that such a profoundly reasonable and logical investigation of these subjects were never had in this county before, and we might add, nor since. For the benefit of the outside world, who have never been favored with the acquaintance of Bro. Cook, I will here say that he is a member and a close adherent of the M. E. church South, and I tell the truth when I say that I am no member of the church to which Bro. Cook belongs, therefore I conclude that I am impartial to Bro. Cook.

I had intended to bestow some attention upon "Modoc's" allusion to me, but if what Mr. Manker says of him is true, and I have seen no refutation to that, I shall decline to do so. At 9 p. m. I used Wilson raised the bass crop of wheat, 563 bushels. Lewis & Eldon are the best threshermen, in the above crop the last 47 bushels were threshed in 45 minutes.

Hope.

BY NANNIE.

FORSVILLE, KY., AUG. 17, 1879.

Editor Herald:

How dark and dreary our lives would be if it was not for the bright star of hope to cast its sparkling rays o'er our dark paths and gently lead us on. How often would our weary, depressed spirits sink beneath their heavy burdens of care and perplexity if it was not for that blessed, flickering little star of hope. Though it sometimes fades from our view and leaves us groping in the darkness, it is not forsake us but for a short time, for soon it peers above the dark horizon of despair and causes us to mount the rocky steps of this life and to push forward, cheered by its luminous beams. May it kindly shine for us all and brighten our dismal way till we are safely launched upon the other shore, where we can praise our Redeemer for blessing us with the beautiful star of hope.

Have hope, though clouds environ now And gladness hides her face, Put not the shadows from thy brow— No night but hath its morn.

Letter From Grayson County, Ky.

SPRING LICK, KY., August 23, 1879.

Since my last communication we have had quite a seasonable weather in this locality, and from what I can learn, equally so in other localities, which has helped the last planting very materially, but the bulk of it is too small to make anything like good tobacco, and about one-fourth of a yield is the estimate I place on it, unless the season from now on is favorable to the extreme. Parties who have been riding over the county say that the crop is very uneven, and that the leaves of the first planting are narrow and small.

The farmers say they cannot see what has caused the decline in prices in all of the markets, as there will not be more than a half a crop, so they are not sure that there must be "big bugs" creeping around to suck the blood of the farmer—granger-like.

The corn crop will be excellent, and other crops are very good.

The election is over, and we have nothing to talk about now or engage the minds of the people, except to testify about a great medical water recently discovered in this vicinity by digging a 14-foot well. As it may be of public interest, I give below Dr. J. P. Belmont's opinion of the water and also the analysis as given by him:

"It is a strong magnesia water, much resembling in its chemical composition the celebrated Cab Orchard Springs water, and will be found to possess similar medicinal properties. I think it will be found to be of valuable use as a cathartic, but (in small doses) as a remedy for dyspepsia, torpor of the liver, and similar affections. The following is the amount of saline matter contained in 1,000 grains:

Sulphate of magnesia.....	Grains.....
Sulphate of soda.....	5.26
Sulphate of potash.....	2.26
Phosphate of Calcium.....	1.25
Carbonate of iron.....	1.05
Carbonate of lime.....	3.60
Silicious matter.....	3.60
Total.....	16.93

MULLENBERG GETS THE CADET-SHIP.

Robert C. Alexander, of Greenville, the Successful Applicant.

The examination of the applicants for the naval cadetship commenced in Greenville last Wednesday morning, and was conducted by Prof. Helm, of Greenville, Prof. Alexander, of South Carrollton, and Dr. Griffin, of Hartford. The latter gentleman was assisted by Dr. Bohannon, of Greenville, in his medical examination.

The applicants were A. J. Rodgers, Key McKee and Thos. R. Burbridge, of Christian; James S. Shackelford, of Hopkins; J. H. Givens, of Webster; Courtland Eaves and R. C. Alexander, of Mullenberg. In the medical examination it was discovered that Courtland Eaves lacked three-fourths of an inch of being tall enough—cadets being required to be five feet in height—therefore his name was withdrawn, and that of his brother, W. H. Eaves, substituted. The examination continued two days and resulted as follows (100 being the maximum): Alexander, 86 5-8; Givens, 82; Eaves, 83; Rodgers, 80; McKee, 82; Burbridge, 81.

Robert C. Alexander, the successful applicant, is the sixteen-year-old son of Rev. R. C. Alexander, pastor of the Baptist church in Greenville. He is a quiet, pale-faced, unobtrusive, gentlemanly little fellow, and has always had the reputation of a hard student. He is a pupil of the University of South Carolina, and speaks of him in the highest terms, especially as a mathematician. His competitors were older and better developed physically, but he outshone them all in the mental work.

The defeated candidates accepted the inevitable with the best possible grace, and returned to their homes perfectly satisfied as to the fairness of the test. They were, without an exception, a clever set of young gentlemen.

"Stop That Man!"

"Shoot him on the spot!" He's a swindle and his liberty should be curtailed. I was seated in my yard when he came, and I saw him with a full coat of brass and impudence, asked me to subscribe for a certain paper. I looked at it to see if it was worth $2.00 a year, and I noticed the following head lines in it:

"The King of Naples." "A Dead Woman Battered." "Nature, the Alchemist." "A Kiss by Moonlight."

From the sundried treatise of I concluded to subscribe, and so I paid the canvasser two dollars. He thanked me and departed. I called my wife and daughter and read them what I had done, and proposed to read a few of the articles, thinking to gain information. I didn't use cuss words, but if that fellow had been round here then I would have been tempted. I read aloud, and just as each article began to tickle my fancy, and to please my wife, I read as follows: "English Female Bitters will cure all sick females." "Baily's Saline Aperient is the great sparkling purgative for sick headache." "Now I didn't bargain for such stuff. My wife is not sick, and I don't need a female medicine, hence I am swindled and feel that newspaper men who take such advertisements should be tarred and feathered and rode on a rail; and my wife and daughter sing out 'English Female Bitters.'"

DAY'S AGUE TONIC

Is purely vegetable, containing no quinine, arsenic, mercury or other injurious ingredients. Its immediate action is directed to the stomach, liver, bowels and skin, while as an antiperiodic, it does not excite. For all billious disorders, chills and fever, dumb ague, ague-cake, neuralgia, periodical headache, sun pain, it has no equal.

A child cured of Day's Ague Tonic does not return on the third, seventh, fourteenth or twenty-first day, which proves that the cure is of a permanent character, as it removes all malarial poison.

My Grandmother's Churn.

This beautiful new song and chorus, composed by that popular author, Henry Schoeller, is one of the most characteristic and charming of ballads; a song for the people, that should take the place of the worn-out "Grandfather's Clock." The poetry and music combined, in a high degree, simplicity, beauty and sweetness, and will reach the popular heart. The song has a captivating vein of tenderness running through it; while the rousing chorus is a fine representation of the work the dear Grandmother of the olden time. The whole is a striking and beautiful conception, destined to great popularity. No one should fail to get a copy. In a short time "My Grandmother's Churn" will be played, whistled, hummed, and sung everywhere; until the air will ring with its melody. Price, 30 cents a copy. For sale by R. W. Carroll & Co., Publishers, Cincinnati, Ohio.

LITCHFIELD, KY., August 30.

As your correspondent from Litchfield, Orange Blossom, has not been heard from for some time, I have concluded to send you a few lines. Mr. W. M. Ireland, of Eminence, Ky., has been in our town for several days buying mules; he has bought about 25 and expects to buy several more.

Dr. C. Strickler, late of Stephensburg, has recently located in our town.

Mr. Wm. J. Lewis, of Caneyville, is building a large flouring mill at this place. It will be in operation by the first of October. Rev. M. F. Melody is also erecting a beautiful residence.

The prisoners, Jas. Craig and A. A. Arnold, who were freed from jail on the morning of 21st, have not been captured yet. In addition to the reward of $100, offered by the jailer, the Governor has offered a reward of $200 for the capture of each. The Skaggs Bros. have also offered a reward of $50 for the capture of Atwood.

We will have the last picnic of the season at this place to-day; do not know whether it will be well attended or not, as it is late in the season and we have had so many of them, that they have become common.

We are always glad to receive the HERALD and read it with much pleasure.

Prepare for fun—a first-class theatrical troupe will be here during Fair week to entertain the people.

Mr. Billy Phillips is having his old store on Main street, torn down. Mr. J. F. Yager is bossing the job.

Messrs. Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro. have had the front of their drug store painted, and a very large and attractive sign painted thereon.

Have your house insured, for something is going to happen—nearly every one dreams of fire. Don't delay, for it may be too late.

John P. Foster, Beaver Dam, has some Berkshire pigs 2½ months old that weigh 75 pounds each. Can Blue Grass beat that?

The Ohio County Fair will begin September 30, 1879, instead of October 7, as heretofore announced, and will continue five days.

The HERALD corps are under obligations to Messrs. Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro. for a "set up" of their favorite Havana "Tip Top." They are delightful.

Mr. Jas. F. Carlson has contributed to our cabinet of wonders, an ear of corn with nine well-developed ears of smaller size attached—giving it an umbrella shape.

Tom Lee, the negro that created such an excitement in the western portion of town last week, is at himself again. As the physicians have failed to name his case, we will call it a nigger fit.

Mrs. James A. Harrison, near Sulphur Springs sent us a beet recently that is quite hard to beat. It is the second largest one we have seen this season. Trot out your big beets but don't send us any "dead beets."

Corinne, little daughter of Capt. Sam. K. Cox, was taken very suddenly Sunday evening with a spasm. The fond parents watched it with hope and fear for several hours not knowing what would be the result. We are glad to announce that she is much better this morning.

An opening for an enterprising man has presented itself. We need a City Hall. Mr. Billy Phipps is demolishing his old brick store on Main street. One could buy this lot and the one adjoining it cheap, and erect a Hall—which would not only be an advantage to the town, but will bring money to him. Try it! Nothing risked nothing made.

Our sanctum was made bright yesterday morning by the smiling countenance of Mr. Thos. Duke, with a pint of good old sorghum in his hand. Said sorghum was sent us by Mr. Henry Midkiff, and was made on Mr. Sylvester Lunn's new evaporator. This syrup is said to be of the Golden Drip quality, and is as good as ever tasted.

Taken up as an estray, by J. C. May, living near New Bethel church, on the left or south of the Harmond's ferry road, in Ohio county, Ky., one dark bay horse, some 14 hands high. He is four years old, with a star in his forehead and white stripe under the poll lock of the left hind foot. Appraised by the undersigned, at $25, this Aug. 6, 1879. A. B. BENNETT, J. P. O. C.

Take this method of informing the tax-payers of Ohio county that their taxes are now due, and have been since the first of June. Those owing their taxes are herein notified to come forward and pay the same. Persons owing back taxes, if not paid immediately, will have their property levied on and sold. One of my deputies will be at each of the Magistrates' courts in September, where persons can have an opportunity to pay their taxes.

C. W. PHILLIPS, Sheriff of Ohio County.

L. F. Woerner, having employed the services of a competent workman to assist him, is prepared to fill orders for boots and shoes on short notice. Give him your custom.

Monday was quite a rainy day which was quite a damper to those attending County Court and stock sales. The rain was so constant that but little stock or property was disposed of.

Read the new time-table of the Owensboro & Nashville R. R. in this issue. The time-table took effect September 1st. The mail and express will also be carried on this road from that date.

The season is now approaching when people should wear heavy boots and shoes. Taking this as a fact they should leave their orders with L. F. Woerner, where they will be filled with satisfaction both in price and fit.

The Carlisle Mercury says that a letter with a Germantown postmark was received at the Carlisle office on Monday morning addressed as follows:

"Tell me on a rolling route, To Carlisle, Kentucky state, Drop me there and let me be 'Till Sallie Walker calls for me."

The Sandusky House, Owensboro Junction, is one of the best arranged, best managed hotels we know of. Every thing kept in top-notch order. The House is well furnished from cellar to garret and is kept as nice and bright as a new pin. The table is lavishly supplied with all the good edibles to be had in the market. Try this House when you pass that way.

W. J. Finley, D. D., of Morgantown, will, on Sunday September 14th, (2nd Sunday) at 11 o'clock A. M., at Mt. Pleasant church preach the funeral of Rev. George Jones; and at 3 o'clock P. M. of same day, at same place, preach the funeral of L. H. Rains. Dinner will be furnished at the church. All persons living contiguous thereto will "take notice and govern themselves accordingly."

N. J. RAINS, SAM. K. JONES.

When you leave Louisville to come down on the Paducah railroad, do not take an early hotel breakfast, which is hardly ever as good as it should be, and is at an hour too early to be enjoyed; but wait till you get down to Otter Creek, and there you will get a meal at the regular breakfast hour, and one good enough for any body. We know what we are talking about for we have tried it. We long for someone more of that good coffee. The train stops 20 minutes for breakfast.

BORN.—To the wife of Wm. C. Edmonson, Rosine, Ky., August 23d, a daughter—weight, 9½ pounds. Mr. Edmonson is a son of Mr. M. A. Edmonson, and Mrs. Edmonson is a daughter of Mr. J. B. Sandefur. This is the first grandchild of either of the grandparents. Mr. Edmonson quit work and Mr. Sandefur rode his horse nearly down to see the first-born of his only daughter. This is the fourth generation on the Sandefur side—the mother, grandfather and great grandfather all being alive.

In our notice of the supper last week we omitted, or rather forgot, to mention a very attractive feature of the evening, which was that of little Eva Morton, daughter of Mr. A. L. Morton, our worthy Circuit Court Clerk. Miss Eva was the attraction of the evening—representing the fairy among the flowers. She had beautiful vase made of flowers filled with button-hole bouquets, which she sold to the audience, realizing a considerable sum. We hope our fairy friend will pardon us for this omission, for it was not intentional on our part.

A very remarkable feature of the Sulphur Springs, has recently made its appearance. The facts run thusly: Sometime near the 18th of July, Mr. A. F. McJannet, of Owensboro, while visiting the Springs thought it quite a sunny place to stand around spring and wait for one another to drink, so consequently he put his wits to work and concocted a plan and erected a beautiful arbor over the spring. The two front posts were made of limbs of an oak tree standing near the spring. Nothing more was thought of the arbor (merely many thanks extended Mr. Mc. for his ingenious work), until about two weeks ago, when they were found to be putting forth small branches with leaves. Unsuspecting by life, they will stand as living monuments to honor the fame of Mr. Mc., and moreover, his and several of his friends names and initials, (C. Yager and W. P. M.) who were his associates, will ever bring sweet remembrance of his short visit to the Springs.

PERSONAL.

Miss Fannie Cates will leave Friday for Russellville, to attend school.

Mr. Willie P. Maxwell will leave today to attend Bethel College, Russellville.

Henry McHenry, Jr., left Sunday for Farmdale, to attend the Kentucky Military Institute.

Misses Re. and Fannie Love returned Saturday from a pleasant visit to friends in this and Ohio counties.—Echo.

Miss Alice Jarboe returns to her home in Hartford to-day after a short visit to relatives in this city.—Owensboro Messenger.

Miss Mary Taylor, one of Hartford's most sunny-faced young ladies, left yesterday for Shelbyville to attend Science Hill.

Mr. Jas. H. Anderson left yesterday for South Carrollton, to attend school. Jimmie will deliver an oration at the opening of the school.

Miss Alice Jarboe, who has been visiting relatives in Owensboro for several weeks past, returned to her home in Hartford last Thursday evening.

Mr. L. Rosenberg, of Hartford, Ky., brother of our townsman Z. Rosenberg, was in town this week, on his way East for good.—Gallatin Tennessean.

Lemuel McHenry, Esq., who has been visiting friends in Hartford and attending the Ohio County Sulphur Springs, for several weeks past, returned to his home in Louisville, last Sunday.

Miss Belle Barnes, of this place, left last Saturday for South Carrollton to attend the next session of South Carrollton Institute, which opened last Monday. Miss Belle delivered an oration during the opening exercises.

A party of six couples, including ye local, visited the Sulphur Springs last Sunday, going up in the morning and returning in the evening. The day was spent in walking, talking, eating, and drinking sulphur water. All in all, it was a pleasant event.

Miss Scott, of Louisville, who has been visiting her brother-in-law, Mr. K. Carson, for several weeks past, paid our office a visit last Thursday. Miss Scott is quite an interesting young lady, and her visit was very highly appreciated by us. She was accompanied by Miss Emma Barnett, of Crook.

Mrs. W. C. Morton, who has spent a great portion of the summer visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dix, in Brookridge county, returned home last Wednesday. She was accompanied by her sister, Miss Lide Dix, who will remain in Hartford several weeks visiting relatives.

Harry Bridges, the well known and popular commercial tourist, who for many years has been representing the firm of Carson, Bowman & Co., of Louisville, has accepted situation with Messrs. Middleton, Barrett & Bowen. He made his debut here last week and secured many orders.

Accidental Shooting.

Wm. Shannon Boswell, a son of N. P. Boswell, near Barrett's Ferry, shot himself last Friday while tooling with a rifle gun. The ball passed through the fleshy part of the arm, breaking no bones but causing the blood to flow very freely. This same young man was blown up by a powder flask about a year ago.

A New Conductor.

Mr. H. W. Adkins has recently been promoted to conductor on the P. & E. R. R. He is one of the few men situated for this important and responsible position. He is a courteous, affable gentleman and performs his duties pleasantly. He comes as near being the equal of W. R. Hodge as any conductor we know, and that is saying a great deal for him.

Sad Mistake.

A dose of arsenic was given to a little daughter of Mr. McDaniel, near the Sulphur Springs, from which she died in a few hours. She was sick and the arsenic was given by mistake for quinine. Mrs. McDaniel was sick too, and would have taken a dose of the arsenic for quinine but it was thought best to wait till her fever cooled down. Great care should be exercised in giving medicine, and any and every kind of poison, if allowed on the premises at all, should be carefully labeled.

Municipal Election.

The election for Town Trustees last Saturday, resulted in the election of the following gentlemen: A. L. Morton, Wm. H. Moore, Z. Wayne Griffin, R. S. Mosely, E. C. Hubbard, Sam. E. Hill and L. F. Woerner. The old Board was elected with the exception of the latter, who takes the place of Mr. Thomas.

How to get Sick.

Expose yourself day and night, eat too much without exercise; work too hard without rest; doctor all the time; take all the vile nostrums advertised; and then you will want to know

HOW TO GET WELL.

Which is answered in three words—Take Hop Bitters! See other column.

8700.00 REWARD.

Broke Jail at Litchfield, Ky., August 21st, 1879.

Alfred A. Atwood, sentenced to the penitentiary for life, is about 35 years old, 5 feet 7 inches high, weighs about 150 lbs, black hair and eyes, chin whiskers and mustache, down countenance, stoop-shouldered, and wears No. 9 shoes, talks but little, restless, quick motion, a miller, and smokes a pipe. James Craig, indicted for murder, is about 42 years old, 5 feet 7 inches high, weighs about 165 lbs., dark hair, fair skin, blue eyes, heavy mustache, up-headed, straight body, quick motioned, and loves whiskey. I will pay $100 reward for the delivery of the two to me; and the Governor has offered for the same an additional reward of $300 each.

A. J. LAYMAN, Jailor Grayson Co.

A Pleasant Party.

Hartford has ever been conspicuous for the beauty of its young ladies, the gallantry of its young men, the intelligence of both and the hospitality of its homes. These were notably illustrated last Thursday night at the residence of Mrs. J. L. Collins, on the corner of Water and Mulberry streets. The occasion was that of a dance, given in honor of Mr. Harry P. Taylor and sister, Miss Mary, nephew and niece of the hostess. The young ladies and gentlemen anticipating the pleasure in store for them, assembled at about 8½ o'clock, when the festivities of the evening began. Mrs. Collins, the hostess, was unceasing in her efforts to please, and so vigilantly did she watch the wants of her guests that nothing was left undone that would add to the pleasures and gaieties of the evening. At 11 o'clock the audience was regaled by a bountiful supply of refreshments. At one o'clock the crowd adjourned.

"Wishing to each a sweet goodnight With pleasant dreams and slumbers light."

Alexander's Hotel, Market and 7th Streets, Louisville, Ky.

This fine, new and convenient Hotel has been put in splendid condition for the reception of guests, and have made arrangements to accommodate a large number of ladies and gentlemen at the coming Exposition, which opens September 2nd and closes October 18th, and is expected to be a big show. Old fashioned Kentucky hospitality will be handed out freely to all. Fare, $2 per day. Jo. B. ALEXANDER & Co., Proprietors.

DIED.

At her husband's residence in Hartford, Monday morning, September 1st 1879, after a long and severe illness, Mrs. Elizabeth Wise. Mrs. Wise was the second wife of Mr. Daniel Wise and the widow of Gilford King. Her first marriage was the result of two children, Tommie and Belle, the latter the wife of Mr. Fleming B. Wise. Her union with Mr. Wise was blessed with a son, little Mc. Mrs. Wise was liked by all who knew her, and died without an enemy in the world. As a mother, she was devoted and true; as a sister, she was affectionate and kind. Her funeral services took place yesterday morning after which her remains were conveyed to the Berry grave-yard and interred.
